Bridge Logistics Services chosen to Participate in the First U.S. Scalerator Program

Milwaukee, WI

Bridge Logistics Services, Inc. of Milwaukee, WI was accepted to the first Scalerator Business development program in the United States. The Scalerator Program is an initiative of the Greater Milwaukee Committee and UWM. The two-month long program, Sept-Oct, is designed to help maximize potential and possibilities by focusing on issues such as entrepreneurial finance, sales management for rapid growth and a how-to build an organizational platform for growth.

Bridge will receive training and mentoring, along with structured assignments from experts over the course of the program. The core resources will be faculty from Babson College and other experts, local and international. For the past 20 years Babson has been ranked above Harvard, Stanford and MIT for its practical entrepreneurship education.

“The choice of Bridge for this program is significant because it confirms the progress Bridge has made in the last year to position itself for future growth and our reputation as a forward-thinking company”, said Tom Haering, president of Bridge Logistics Services, Inc.
